March 2019

To Whom It May Concern:

Since 2006, Missouri State University (MSU), through the Management Development Institute, has worked with IBDL, Inc in developing and presenting professional development programs internationally. Now coordinated by MSU's International Leadership and Training Center (ILTC), Missouri State University extends this agreement with IBDL to continue certifying IBDL's three-level, business administration skills program. This letter is evidence of the certification of the IBDL programs detailed in the table below.

Missouri State University is a public educational institution authorized under the statutes of the state of Missouri. The University is under the general control and management of the Board of Governors, which is appointed by the Governor of Missouri with the consent of the Missouri Senate. According to the statutes of the state of Missouri, the Board of Governors has the full power and authority to adopt all rules and regulations for the guidance and supervision of the University. Missouri State University is a fully accredited institution by the Higher Learning Commission (HLC) of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, which can be found at www.ncahlc.org.

IBDL certificate programs are non-degree, professional development courses supported by Missouri State University and its International Leadership Training Center under the "Management Development Institute- International" brand. Missouri State University is accredited at the highest level internationally, known as AACSB (The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business) certification, and is also recognized as a "Best Midwestern College" by the Princeton Review.

The ILTC is a global outreach program for the Division of Research, Economic Development and International Programs at Missouri State University. ILTC provides both academic and non-credit professional development programs to students, business leaders, faculty and non-profit professionals. Recognized in Missouri and internationally, the ILTC is a trusted source for learning and development.
